ALEXANDER CHORNY

WEB DEVELOPER

PROFILE

I am a developer with good experience with HTML, CSS and JS. I strive to create reliable, adaptive, cross-browser web products based on best practices and accessibility.

In life, I enjoy self-learning and therefore I try to develop, both in terms of technical skills and communication skills. So I plan my days to improve my frontend development skills, learn and use tools to speed up web development and improve my language skills (English and German).

I feel the need to learn anything new or do something useful in a day. Moreover I like doing sports and developing in various directions: swimming, running, strength training.
